

The Faces Of Reconstruction

Freed slaves crowding into a small schoolhouse

The KKK attacked Freedmen after the Civil War.

Freedmen in a field working the only job they can and know how to do.

After the Civil War the South went into a recession. making finding jobs harder.

Propaganda used during the Reconstruction era after the Civil War

Andrew Johnson took over as President after Lincoln's assassination

A destroyed railroad in the South

South being rebuilt after the Civil War

The North Portico shortly after the Civil War

Blacks against Segregation

Several former slaves stayed on plantations after the war.

Richmond in ruins

School in the South, 3 years after the Civil War

People moved to the city to find work while in the recession

During and after the Civil War the number of woman working in factories went up

Northern factories were still a central part of their economy

South upset about slavery ending

Reconstruction after the Civil War

Family in poverty after the Civil War